PATTERN SHOP NOTES

Mr. Davis the official rat catcher of the Pattern shop has been out after his prey in great style. The other day he built a figure four trap that any Indian trapper would have been proud of. He next spent the best part of his lunch hour and some of his hard earned cash in procuring a nice morsel of cheese up at the grocery store, then at it neared the hour of four he placed the cheese in the trap and carefully set up the sticks so that the slightest movement would spring the trap. He arrived at the shop bright and early the next morning and the gleam in his eyes was that of an old time hunter. He sneaked up to the trap and his heart jumped up in his mouth for there sure enough the trap was sprung and did he get his rat? I'll say he did; there it lay dead as a door nail, but much to his surprise when he went to examine it he found that it was made of his old black shop cap stuffed full of waste with pepper ears and a tail made of a piece of rope.

Mr. Reese James spent a week's vacation with his wife and seven year old boy at Long Beach where they enjoyed the nights and went in swimming every day of their stay.

The pattern shop is being equipped with a new blower system to remove all the saw dust and shavings from the machines, which when completed will make the pattern shop the best equipped on the coast. Senator Harshaw is getting to be some chaffer these days as he drove right up in the center of traffic and did not get pinched.

Mr. Frank Steinhilber and wife spent an enjoyable ten days' trip up at Mammoth which is about 350 miles from Los Angeles, where they packed with pack and saddle horses over into the head waters of the San Joaquin river. There they visited the Devil's Post Pile and Rainbow Falls where they reported trout fishing very good and were able to bring the limit home to Torrance packed in snow.

Mr. Earl McConnell is getting so good with his work that they find they can trust him with a helper from the drafting room and between the two of them they have been able to dope out some of the hardest problems of the shop.

Little Matt Turpin has been laid up with a slight illness which prevented him from working another week before he went back to school.

FOUNDRY

Shorty Gilmore, the pride of the foundry, is back again after a week's lay off. Every one was glad to see Shorty back on the job again. We all think he'll be a good molder because he has a great future, behind him.

Chas. Feigly is another good boy. Chas. is going to be a moulder if he lives long enough. He's such a good looking boy, and his teeth are beautiful, both of them, one is brass. Some day Chas. is going to reach the highest pinnacle of success.

Joe Anderson is just starting to realize that ten cents make one dime, and ten dimes make one dollar and ten dollars buys one quart.

We don't know what would happen to Young Moody if they stop making chewing tobacco.

Harry Boggs' helper is learning fast now adays. When he first started to work here it took him one hour and a half to put a clamp on a mold, now he does it in an hour and twenty minutes. Don't care Jack Strun, we won't mention your name this time but see if you can't work a little faster.

It doesn't pay to play with matches and gasoline. Mr. Dawson thought he ran out of gas one day and lighted a match to see if he had any gas. He had lots of gas, but he didn't have much skin on his hand after he lighted the match. He received a very severe burn.

Dave Young told Bill Green he had to have twelve yokes a day and had to have them bad. He got them bad alright.

W. Briggs bought a magazine last month, the first one he bought for a year. It seems funny that Bill had to lay off the next day. It its going to effect you that bad, Bill, I'm afraid we won't be allowed to sell you any more.—U. T. Co. News.

GAS ENGINE DEPARTMENT

Hello, boys—didn't think I'd make the grade, did you? Shouted our noble cost clerk as he pulled the big sturdy four-wheeler up to the curb. Every one of us set up and took notice. Then finally after a lot of wondering some one spied the name "Maxwell" on the great four-wheeler, also the inscription "Noah." Well, this was a daily 7:00 a. m. occurrence which lapsed about two weeks until one morning to our great surprise we noticed the same bunch who rode the Maxwell behind our gallant cost clerk all cooped up in a keen little Chevrolet, but this our trusty inspector at the wheel. After a coaxed confession from the inspector, he admitted he had to salvage the Maxwell, which was a surprise to all of us. But our inspector would make but one assertion in low, modest voice. "I'll drive the new Chevrolet myself."—U. T. Co. News.
